Facing jail: man stole wire from railroad, caused train delays

Yolo County District Attorney Jeff Reisig has announced that last Wednesday, a Yolo County jury found 31-year-old Jason Stark of West Sacramento guilty of felony vandalism, felony petty theft with prior convictions and possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

According to the D.A.'s office:

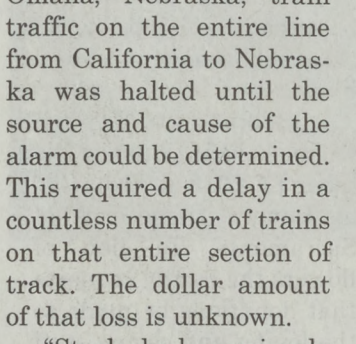
"On June 25, 2013, the Union Pacific Railroad controller in Omaha, Nebraska got a signal alert to a problem on the tracks in West Sacramento. The controller immediately dispatched a signalman who arrived within 20 minutes. The signalman saw Stark quickly shoving railroad signal cables that he had cut up into his backpack then fleeing on his bicycle down Sacramento Avenue. The signalman immediately called West Sacramento police, who intercepted Stark minutes later catching him with the wire cables, a knife to cut them, and narcotics paraphernalia."

Typically, thieves take copper wire and other metals from public fixtures and businesses to sell them for their recycling value.

"Although the value of the wire was insignificant," continued the statement from the D.A.'s office, "the cost to the general public and the railroad was extraordinary. When the alarm of a problem on the RR track was sounded in Omaha, Nebraska, train traffic on the entire line from California to Nebraska was halted until the source and cause of the alarm could be determined. This required a delay in a countless number of trains on that entire section of track. The dollar amount of that loss is unknown.

"Stark had previously been convicted of three separate crimes for theft, and as a result is subject to enhanced punishments.

"Stark is facing a local prison sentence of up to 3 years, 8 months. Sentencing is scheduled for October 18, 2013 in front of the Honorable Janet Gaard."



Munching at the riverfront

Long line of tasty stuff: Sacramento-area and Bay Area food trucks line up on River Walk Park for 'Trucktoberfest' (News-Ledger photo/Steve Marschke)

The second annual edition of "Trucktoberfest" Saturday on the West Sacramento riverfront seemed to show that the event is gaining an enthusiastic following.

For the second year, food trucks descended on River Walk Park, next to the ziggurat building, CalSTRS tower and the Tower Bridge. They brought much-beloved street food that included smoothies, burgers, tacos, churros, gyros and ice cream.

Meanwhile, bands sent music over the crowd from a stage below, close to the shoreline.

Tasteful Selections, a premium potato company, hosted a contest in which six of the food trucks competed to win a $1,000 prize for best baby potato recipe. The judges were Kat Maudru, Kevin Kiwata of "The Chairman" truck and Linda Zablotny-Hurst of the Yolo County Food Bank.

The winner: Swabbies, which produced a potato gnocchi for the judging.

The public, too, got to vote on the potato recipes – casting their votes by casting a baby potato into the bin marked with their favorite food truck's name.

"This year's MVP ("Most Valuable Potato") was 'Slightly Skewed,' which featured their take on fried potatoes garnished with a sour cream and tomato sauce," reported Melissa Sylte of Tasteful Selections.

Her company donated 20,000 pounds of potatoes to the food bank in conjunction with Trucktoberfest.

Lisa Friedrich and Mark Bucek of Tasteful Selections collect 'votes' for the Most Valuable Potato award. Food trucks competed to come up with the most popular recipe using baby potatoes.

The food truck event was organized by Sacramento Mobile Food Events, at www.sactomofo.com.

Walk raises $4,000 for charity

A West Sacramento "Friends of the Poor" walk drew about 100 people on September 28, and raised about $4,000 for charity.

Event representative Paul Starkey reports that dozens of people did the two-mile walk hosted by Our Lady of Grace Conference at the Our Lady of Grace private school on Linden Road. Walkers stepped out to a path through the surrounding Southport neighborhoods and on the Clarksburg Trail.

The local money went to the St. Vincent de Paul Society, said Starkey. That organization provides emergency help to those in need, offering food, rent, utilities and meal programs.

The "Friends of the Poor" walk was also a nationwide event supporting St. Vincent de Paul. Organizes held similar events inSacramento and Lincoln.

West Sacramento's Fire Station 45 crew showed up to the West Sacramento walk, giving "kids of all ages" a chance to look at some fire equipment.

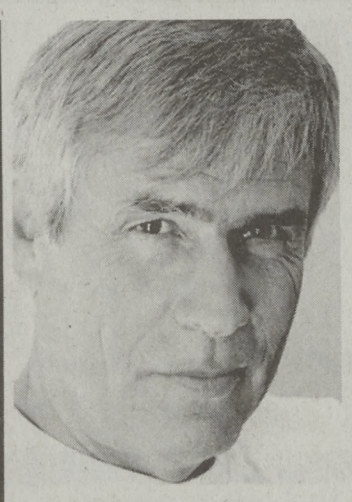
Better than a bank: where to stash that cash

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

Editor's note: Daryl is off this week. Below is one of his favorite columns from the past.

On days when I have nothing constructive to do at work, I sometimes go on the Internet just to browse around with the hope that I might stumble across a good idea for a future column. For instance, the other day I ran across a story entitled "Scientific study finds that drinking three cups of coffee a day can shrink a woman's breasts", which of course sounded like a pretty darn good column idea to me.

"Keep looking," said the owner/editor of the News-Ledger, Steve Marschke, when I told him about the new column idea I had just run across on the Internet.

"Why?"

"Well, other than all the obvious reasons, it also breaks the first rule of column writing."

"Which is?"

"That you should always try to write about a subject that most of our readers can identify with, something common to most everyone's experience, and since not every woman in West Sacramento is interested in having smaller breasts, it's my opinion that you've got yourself a pretty lousy column idea there."

"But most every woman in West Sacramento drinks coffee," I quickly reminded Steve, looking for an angle to salvage my new column idea.

"Keep looking!"

So, having struck out in the health news area, I turned my attention to what the Internet had to say about personal finance, figuring that everyone would be especially interested in that subject with all the thievery that has been going on back on Wall Street lately, and I quickly came across something which I was absolutely sure would make for a great column.

"Hey, Steve," I yelled out through the open door which separates our two offices, "how about this for a good column idea – the crazy places where people like to hide their money?"

"Hey, now that's not bad," answered Steve. "With people everywhere currently worried about their own banks going out of business, I bet more people than ever are just keeping their hard-earned money at home and hiding it under a mattress or something."

"That's exactly what this article says, and you wouldn't believe some of the places people use for hiding their money."

"Like what?"

"Well, this one lady hides her extra money in a tampon box, figuring that would be the last place her husband would ever look for his beer money. And here's another really good one – some guy puts dozens of hundred-dollar bills in a plastic bag and then hides it under the gravel of his big fish aquarium, which is home to a half-dozen or so piranha fish, figuring that a thief wouldn't want anything to do with all those sharp piranha teeth."

"That's pretty funny."

"Wanna hear some more?"

"Sure."

"Okay, here goes. Inside a curtain rod; inside a roll of toilet paper hidden in the back of a bathroom cabinet; at the bottom of a dirty clothes hamper; in envelopes taped to the back of furniture; in artificial plants; in an old vacuum cleaner that is never used; at the bottom of a basket labeled `dog poo plastic bags'; under a nailed down carpet in the bedroom; in a hollowed-out Bible; inside an old pair of smelly sneakers; in the pockets of old coats hanging in a closet; inside a child's teddy bear that can be easily opened and sewed back together again; in a mason jar buried in the backyard; under the cat-litter box; and here's a cute one – inside a piggy bank that this lady puts in her freezer because she thinks that's the perfect place to keep her cold, hard cash."

'One lady hides her extra money in a tampon box, figuring that would be the last place her husband would ever look for his beer money,' I told him.

"Very funny!"

"And this one guy says he just puts all of his money under the mattress because his lazy wife is always in bed and he's pretty sure a thief wouldn't want anything to do with her. But do you wanna hear my favorite?"

"Sure."

"This one lady hides her money in one of the hundreds of purses she has in her big walk-in closet figuring that most criminals like to get in and out of a place they're robbing pretty fast and that it would probably take a thief most of a day to go through all of her purses."

Anyway, after I had finished telling Steve a dozen or so more interesting places where people like to hide their spare money, I asked him where he likes to hide his.

"Well," said Steve, "I have on occasion left some extra money lying around in my underwear drawer. How about you?"

"I don't have any extra money, Steve. I work for the News-Ledger!"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

West Sac charter school

There is a group of young parents in West Sacramento who exemplify the highest form of parental commitment: the willingness to take responsibility for their children's education. While this was once the rule in our community, our state and our nation, it is now the rare exception in a society that lets parents believe that the schools should be all things to all people and that they've fully met their parental obligation when they drop their kids off at the curb. This group, therefore, is a great breath of fresh air.

I have had the honor of working with this group while, despite being virtually all full-time working people, they have done the extraordinarily lengthy and complex work required to start Lighthouse Charter School on land set aside for that purpose on one corner of the Rivers development in Broderick. The Lighthouse Charter School will be affiliated with the Delta Elementary Charter School in Clarksburg, known for its rigorous academic program that includes visual and performing arts, technology and project-based learning. Such a school in the Broderick area would provide expanded educational choice and opportunities for families in West Sacramento.

A public hearing on the charter application is on the Washington Unified Board agenda this Thursday evening. I encourage the community to come out and learn more about this exciting opportunity.

JOSEPH P. BARANKIN, Ph.D.
Assistant California State Superintendent of Public Instruction (Retired)
West Sacramento

EDITOR'S NOTE: Supporters of the charter school promise "a school setting that reflects the community's desire to have access to a rigorous academic program that includes visual and performing arts, technology and athletics programs," at the corner of Lighthouse Drive and Douglas Avenue.

The school promises to "(attack) the socioeconomic gap" with a program based on "Common Core" standards. It hopes to open for the 2015-2016 school year, starting with grades K-2 and 7-9 and growing to 600 students in grades K-8.

For more information, email lighthousecharterwestsac@gmail.com.

The school board will hold a public hearing on the proposed charter school as part of its 6 p.m. meeting on Thursday, Oct. 10, at city hall (1110 West Capitol Avenue).

Police get funds for sobriety checks

West Sacramento police announced this week they have received a new traffic safety grant to fight drunk driving.

The $19,750 from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, through the California Office of Traffic Safety, will support the department's occasional sobriety checkpoints, reported Lieutenant David Delaini.

"The grant activities will specifically target impaired driving offenders as well as educating the public on the dangers of impaired driving through the use of DUI/driver's license checkpoints," he said in a press statement. "When possible, specially-trained officers will be available to evaluate those suspected of drug-impaired driving."

She "also had some credit cards and a driver's license in her possession, under someone else's name, that she stated she found but doesn't remember when." The owner of the material was deceased. The cards and ID were booked into police custody. The woman was arrested and booked with a notice to appear in court.

Oct. 3, 11:31 a.m.

A patrol officer spotted a woman bike past, recognizing her as a person who had been the subject of several recent "415" (disturbance/fight) calls in recent weeks. The officer turned around and watched the woman talk to a man at a Maple Street location.

The officer hid behind some bushes and saw her argue with the man, whom the officer knew to share two children with the woman.

"All of a sudden I saw (her) fall to the ground and observed the (man) swing at her with a closed right fist," reported the officer. "The punch did not land. The suspect told (her) to leave and the suspect retreated back toward the residence."

She followed him, and the man promised said "I'm going to beat your ass."

As she fell to the ground and the man "was going after her with his hand cocked back in a fist," the officer ran up and identified himself as an officer.

"Before the suspect could strike the victim, I got on top of the suspect and delivered three elbow strikes to the suspect's upper back area," he said. "Two of the strikes landed; the third struck the bottom of the fence."

The suspect then began complying with orders. Both parties were handcuffed, and the man was jailed. A glass drug pipe was found on the man during a search.

Oct. 3, 3:20 p.m.

A woman from Tacoma Narrows Street reported that an iPhone had been stolen from a locker at River City High School.

Oct. 3, 2:15 p.m.

An officer each from the Sacramento and West Sacramento police department paid a call on a Rice Avenue recycling shop. The owner of the shop "was provided with material explaining our laws that regulate junk/scrap metal dealers."

(Thieves often steal wire and metal from businesses, construction sites and homes, selling the material to recycling shops.)

Oct. 4, 6:50 a.m.

A man from Evart, California, reported he had stayed at an Evergreen Avenue motel and parked his car there overnight.

At 6:30 a.m., he told an officer, "he returned to his vehicle and noticed that the driver's side window had been broken out."

The car alarm had apparently not gone off. Missing were a laptop computer and two cameras.

Oct. 4, 8:10 a.m.

Someone broke the window of a company truck parked overnight on Ramco Street. Nothing was missing.

Oct. 4, 11:15 a.m.

An officer contacted the head of security at a Shore Street package delivery facility.

The security officer "told me that over the past two days, they have found five opened and empty iPhone boxes," reported the officer.

Missing were four iPhones and one T-Mobile phone, worth a total of about $3,600.

The boxes were found in an area of the facility that didn't have surveillance cameras – although the company planned to install more cameras ahead of the holiday season.

Oct. 4, 3:30 p.m.

A 70-year old man from Dorothy Adamo Lane reported he had been scammed. Someone had sent him a counterfeit money order, which he cashed and then followed instructions by returning some of those funds.

(Editor's note: a common scam involving internet classified ad sales occurs when an alleged buyer arranges to send a money order or cashier's check to pay for an item. The payment is made out for more than the item's asking price, and the seller is asked to refund the difference. But the original payment is, of course, fraudulent.)

Oct. 4, 1 p.m.

A Meadow Road woman reported that a male suspect stole and pawned some of her jewelry without permission.

Oct. 4, 4:23 p.m.

A 24-year old man from Antioch was arrested for stealing and trying to use a debit card belonging to a 65-year old West Sacramento woman.

Oct. 4, 9 p.m.

A 39-year old homeless man was arrested near West Capitol Avenue and Westacre Road after being found with a "smoking pipe for methamphetamine."

Oct. 5, 12:40 a.m.

A police officer reported he was responding to a complaint about a party, when a driver approached on Massie Court in a Mazda RX7. The driver appeared to be drunk, and smelled of both alcohol and marijuana. The driver said he was 19 years old.

The driver also admitted having drunk an unknown quantity of alcohol and "smoked two blunts." The 19-year old went to jail.

Oct. 5, 4 p.m.

Police took a report for a different kind of vehicle infraction:

At a West Capitol supermarket, a 66-year old Jasmine Avenue man struck a 22-year old Westacre Road woman with his shopping cart. No injury, no immediate arrest.

Oct. 6, 2 a.m.

An officer responded after a citizen reported a dispute involving a pickup truck parked on Webster Street near Jefferson. The officer found a parked Chevy Avalanche. The car's registered owner was contacted, and she said her son had been in an accident on the freeway with it and was looking for a place to park it temporarily.

A man then approached the officer, saying it was his vehicle. A second officer arrived. During a pat-search of the man, police "located a clear plastic baggie in his front right pants pocket, containing a black tar-like substance." An officer believed it to be heroin.

The man was arrested and jailed. The suspected heroin measured 0.8 grams.

$400,000 a year. There she stays for 20 years until her death at age 104.

Her empty Manhattan apartment was one of several lavish, over-the-top proprieties she owned but very rarely, if ever, visited, hence the book's title. Her reasons for remaining so hidden from society vary based on who is asking, which makes the book read almost like a mystery novel.

Major historical events, ranging from the Titanic sinking (the Clark family had tickets to board when it reached America, which it never did), to the relocation of a major hospital in New York City (Huguette was personally asked to make a $125 million donation) are folded into the nonfiction tome at every turn.

Fantastically researched, we see personalities, eccentricities and the baggage that comes with money. Huguette's mansions might be empty of people, but her life was full of intrigue.

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"The Conjuring" (R) -- What is it about remote farmhouses in the foggy reaches of New England that makes them so popular for evil spirits? This haunted-house thriller follows the based-on-a-true story characters Ed and Lorraine Warren (Patrick Wilson and Vera Farmiga), two supernatural investigators called to check out the creaky home of the Perron family in the mid 1970s.

Spookiness accomplished. It's a old formula -- family with vulnerable children moves into a musty old house, screams in the night escalate until you can't sit still. Director James Wan ("Saw," "Insidious") squeezes out every last drop of terror without pouring out any blood.

"The Way Way Back" (PG-13) -- Duncan (Liam James) is a quiet 14-year-old boy stuck on a family vacation with his mom (Toni Collette) and her arrogant boyfriend (Steve Carell). While the adults are glad to be rid of him, Duncan gets a job and meets the first person who actually takes an interest in seeing him grow up with confidence -- the carefree manager of a local waterpark (Sam Rockwell).

While the main character of this coming-of-age story is kind of gloomy, the rest of the cast creates a fun atmosphere without the usual, stale feel-goodery. Carell plays a real jerk for once, and he provides a believable bully. The writer-director duo of Jim Rash and Nat Faxon (who took the Oscar for best screenwriting for "The Descendents") bring their winning combination of drama and comedy.

"Before Midnight" (R) -- Richard Linklater revisits the romance set forth almost 20 years ago in "Before Sunrise." Jesse (Ethan Hawke) is an American author, a charmer and a bit of a hound. Celine (Julie Delpy) is a French environmentalist who's worried that she's settled down with somebody who can't stay settled. The couple -- who experienced a spontaneous romance and then a rekindling in the past two movies -- have now been together steadily for nine years. While on vacation in Greece, they have time to banter back and forth about their future and the durability of their spark.

'The Conjuring'

"The Internship" (PG-13) -- After losing their jobs to the Internet's wave of innovation, two salesman (Vince Vaughn and Owen Wilson) seek employment as interns at the cutting-edge Google headquarters. While the duo are vastly underqualified for the highly competitive, unpaid internship, they have a sort of oafish charm that gets them through. Unfortunately, this comedy specializes in chuckles, not laughs.

"Empty Mansions: The Mysterious Life of Huguette Clark and the Spending of a Great American Fortune"
by Bill Dedman and Paul Clark Newell Jr.
(Ballantine Books, $28)
Reviewed by Molly Ford

This true story of the amassing and spending of a fortune is interspersed with so many events in U.S. history that the book is a both a historical and biographical read at its finest.

The book follows the mining fortune made by W.A. Clark. First the money is made, through a mixture of frontier entrepreneurship and smart timing, and then spent lavishly on political aspirations, mansions, travel and art as the money moves from inheritor to inheritor after each successive death.

When the money reaches Clark's youngest daughter, Huguette, who preferred to be called "Madame," she chooses to voluntarily disappear from society, retreating into her lavish, multi-floor Fifth Avenue apartment, which is full of dolls, one of Huguette's childhood passions she never outgrew. She then makes yet another unusual choice when she decides to live in a New York City hospital at a cost of

The Kitchen Diva

Pick an Apple a Day

An apple a day really is good for you! Apples pack a nutritional punch. They contain antioxidants, which may help reduce the risk for cancer, as well as helping to lower bad (LDL) cholesterol. They also have vitamins C and K, potassium and fiber. At only about 100 calories per medium apple (about the size of a baseball), they make a wonderful, inexpensive snack.

Apples are one of the more common fruits, and there are lots of varieties to choose from. Here are some suggestions from The Visual Food Encyclopedia.

For eating out of hand, select a firm, juicy, tasty, crisp apple such as Cameo, Cortland, Golden Delicious, Jonagold, Pink Lady and Red Delicious. Some apples retain their color better than others. These are the preferred varieties for eating fresh and for making into applesauce. Varieties that work well for sauce include Braeburn, Cortland, Fuji, Gala and Jonagold. Golden Delicious apples also make a tasty applesauce, but because they tend to hold their shape when heated, they would work better for stewed apples. Pies do best with a drier, slightly acid apple, and one that does not disintegrate when heated. Braeburn, Cameo, Cortland, Fuji, Golden Delicious and Jonagold are good pie varieties. Granny Smith apples are sometimes called for by name in recipes because of their tartness, perfect for a culinary delight.

For oven baking, choose a sweet apple, but one that retains its shape. Cameo, Cortland, Golden Delicious, Jonagold, and Pink Lady apples work well. Notably missing in these lists is the Red Delicious. Though just right for eating raw --by themselves, with cheese or peanut butter, or cut in a salad -- they do not hold up to heat well.

Apple cider or apple juice are another delicious way to enjoy this fall fruit. Just be sure to choose pasteurized apple juice to avoid illness, especially for children and the elderly. The pasteurization process kills dangerous bacteria that may be found in fresh apple juice. When making juice or cider, a mix of varieties is recommended. The blend brings out the sweetness of some and the tartness of others, making for a rich flavor.

APPLE CRISP WITH CARDAMON AND CARAMEL CREAM

For a burst of exotic, spicy flavor, purchase fresh whole cardamom and grind the seeds with a mortar and pestle or in a spice grinder.

4 medium (about 4 cups) tart baking apples (Braeburn, Cameo, Cortland, Fuji, Golden Delicious or Jonagold), peeled, sliced
1/3 cup plus 2/3 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 cup quick-cooking oats
1/2 to 3/4 teaspoon ground cardamom
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup cold butter or margarine
1/4 cup chopped pecans, if desired
1 cup heavy whipping cream
1/4 cup caramel topping

1. Heat oven to 375 F. Grease bottom and sides of 8-inch-square baking dish with shortening or cooking spray. Chill the mixing bowl and beaters in the refrigerator or freezer for 10 to 20 minutes or until cold to the touch so the cream will whip faster.

2. In medium bowl, toss apples with 1/3 cup of brown sugar. Spread apples in dish. In another bowl, stir remaining 2/3 cup brown sugar, flour, oats, cardamom and cinnamon until well-mixed. Cut in butter, using pastry blender (or pulling 2 table knives through ingredients in opposite directions), until mixture looks like coarse crumbs. Stir in pecans. Sprinkle over apples.

3. Bake 30 to 40 minutes or until topping is golden brown and apples are tender when pierced with fork. Cool 45 minutes before serving.

4. In chilled large deep bowl, beat whipping cream and caramel topping with electric mixer on high speed until stiff peaks form. Serve caramel cream with warm crisp. Drizzle with additional caramel topping, if desired.

Wage Rates: Bidders are hereby notified that the California Department of Industrial Relations and United States Department of Labor, per the Davis-Bacon Act, has determined the general prevailing rate of wages for each craft, classification, or type of worker needed to execute the work. It shall be mandatory for the Contractor and any subcontractor under him to pay not less than the said specified rates to laborers and workmen employed by them in the execution of the contract. Pursuant to Section 1773 of the Labor Code, the general prevailing wage rates in the county, or counties, in which the work is to be done have been determined by the Director of the California Department of Industrial Relations. These wages are set forth in the General Prevailing Wage Rates for this project and are available from the California Department of Industrial Relations' Internet web site at http://www.dir.ca.gov/DLSR/PWD.

The Federal minimum wage rates for this project as predetermined by the United States Secretary of Labor are set forth in the Bid documents may be examined at the offices described above where project plans, special provisions, and bid forms may be seen. Addenda to modify the Federal minimum wage rates, if necessary, will be issued to holders of Bid documents. Future effective general prevailing wage rates, which have been predetermined and are on file with the California Department of Industrial Relations are referenced but not printed in the general prevailing wage rates. If there is a difference between the minimum wage rates predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and the general prevailing wage rates determined by the Director of the California Department of Industrial Relations for similar classifications of labor, the Contractor and subcontractors shall pay not less than the higher wage rate. The Department will not accept lower State wage rates not specifically included in the Federal minimum wage determinations. This includes "helper" (or other classifications based on hours of experience) or any other classification not appearing in the Federal wage determinations. Where Federal wage determinations do not contain the State wage rate determination otherwise available for use by the Contractor and subcontractors, the Contractor and subcontractors shall pay not less than the Federal minimum wage rate, which most closely approximates the duties of the employees in question.

Award: The award shall be made to the lowest responsible bidder whose proposal complies with the specified requirements. The award of Contract will be made by the West Sacramento City Council, and the Contractor shall execute the Contract within ten (10) days after he has received the Contract from the City. The City reserves the right to waive any irregularity in the proposals. No bid may be withdrawn for a period of sixty (60) days after the opening of bids.

Rejection of Bids: The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Any bid not conforming to the intent and purpose of the Contract Documents may be rejected. The City reserves the right to make all awards in the best interest of the City.

Disqualification of Bidder: If there is a reason to believe that collusion exists among any bidders, none of the bids of the participants in such collusion will be considered and the City may likewise elect to reject all bids received.

Relief of Bidder: Attention is directed to the provisions of Public Contracts Code Section 5101 and following, concerning relief of bidders and in particular to the requirements therein that if the bidder claims a mistake was made in his bid, the bidder shall give the City written notice, within five (5) calendar days after the opening of bids of the alleged mistake, specifying in the notice, in detail, how the mistake occurred.

The U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) provides a toll-free "hotline" service to report bid rigging activities. Bid rigging activities can be reported Mondays through Fridays, between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, Telephone No. 1-800-424-9071. Anyone with knowledge of possible bid rigging, bidder collusion, or other fraudulent activities should use the "hotline" to report these activities. All information will be treated confidentially and caller anonymity will be respected.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to determine which proposal is, in its judgment, the lowest responsive bid of a responsible bidder and which proposal should be accepted in the best interests of the City.
